FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

XPORTECHS selected by Basile Baumann Prost Cole & Associates, Inc. for new network design and configuration

Ellicott City, Maryland – January, 2008 – XPORTECHS, a leading Network Engineering and IP Telephony Solutions Partner, announced that it has been selected by Basile Baumann Prost Cole and Associates, Inc. (BBPC) to implement and install new servers and network infrastructure. The BBPC firm has been committed to serving their clients and has already experienced great success. This solution proposed by XPORTECHS gives BBPC the capability to grow their data storage requirements while providing redundancy and security.

According to Tom Danna of BBPC, “The pre-planning and timing of this project was critical. We could not afford to have significant down-time during our normal work schedule. XPORTECHS launched an after-hours effort that was both efficient and accurate so that our system was operational each morning. From the very beginning, they have been nothing but professional, creative and very accommodating. Their expertise, effort, and experience helped make this project a great success.”

The implementation of two new servers and the reconfiguration of the entire network were completed the first night. The second day allowed Xpertechs to complete the migration of the data from the old servers to the new servers and work on end-user PC issues, cell phone ActiveSync configurations and printing. Over the weekend, XPORTECHS completed the project with the migration of extremely large email databases without incident.

“XPORTECHS is very excited about the relationship with BBPC. Our expertise enables us to access a situation quickly and provide rapid response time to meet the individual needs of our clients. Our ability to swiftly adapt to resource requirements, scheduling and availability of products allowed us to perform without hesitation,” said Michael Mellott, President at XPORTECHS.
